Does Enforcement Change User Behaviour? (UK)

Darren Furness – Network Rail

Tom Naughton – British Transport Police
Our level crossings

Our level crossings

6300

1400
The problem – the deliberate violation of red lights

Understanding meaning

Conspicuity

Deliberate violation
Does Enforcement Change User Behaviour?

Education
Engineering
Enabling Elimination
Enforcement
Enforcement

Cameras for:
Speed
red light junctions
public bus lanes

Does Enforcement Change User Behaviour?

A better railway for a better Britain
Level crossing offences and detections

![Graph showing level crossing offences and detections from July 2010-June 2014.]

- July 2010-June 2011: 58% Not Detected, 42% Detected
- July 2011-June 2012: 59% Not Detected, 41% Detected
- July 2012-June 2013: 63% Not Detected, 37% Detected
- July 2013-June 2014: 88% Not Detected, 12% Detected

Does Enforcement Change User Behaviour?
Does Enforcement Change User Behaviour?

STOP when lights show

KEEP CLEAN

A better railway for a better Britain
Does Enforcement Change User Behaviour?

Darren Furness
Head of level crossings
Darren.Furness1@networkrail.co.uk

Tom Naugton
Chief Inspector British Transport Police
Thomas.Naughton2@btp.pnn.police.uk